Block K Parking Garage

The precast concrete on new Block K Parking Garage at Crocker Park in Westlake, OH, was produced and erected by Sidley Precast Group in Thompson, OH. This is the fifth parking garage that Sidley Precast has built in the mixed-use development. The four others were built simultaneously when Crocker Park first opened in 2004. Crocker Park has been expanding with the addition of high-end residential housing, hotel, Class A office space, specialty retail and American Greeting's corporate office.

John McDougall

John McDougall has been part of the Sidley Construction Supply team since 1977, that's 39 years with the company! That's a long time, but pretty typical Sidley. As a mixer driver he works out of our Thompson, OH plant.

According to John driving a 36-ton ready-mix truck off road and around construction sites can get pretty exciting at times. The best part of his job, aside from fellow employees, is the years and years of getting to know our customers. Concrete contracting companies seem often to be generational, so John often delivers to the second generation of customers, giving him an opportunity to reminisce about their fathers when they ran the business. John was first introduced to Sidley's in the early

When you've got a good thing going, why mess with it? That's what Mantua Township thought after operating a 1985 Mack RD685P, single-axle snow plow dump for in excess of 30 years, when it finally became time for a replacement. Even though there are competing brands out there in a tough market place MACK can really put up a punch and hold it's own, just like it did 30 years ago. Mack still makes it's own engines, such as this 325 horsepower; 1200 lb/ft. torque very powerful engine in Mantua's current and newest 2016 GU712. Mack makes their own double reduction rear carriers to multiply the torque sent through the rear axle to the tires at the ground. Mack's frame rails are almost 1/2" thick with numerous huck bolts holding the crossmembers and rear suspension. Numerous other features of which are true benefits to the end user are found all over the vehicle; and since the Mack Corporation and their customers want their new Mack vehicle looking good for a very long time a beautiful metallic color (in this case green) along with a factory sprayed clear coat will keep that beautiful new luster look for years without fading.

60's when his father was a Fuller Brush salesman that called on the family. As an eight year old he remembers getting a tour around the Casement house which is now our corporate headquarters. He also vividly recalls getting a ride in the Sidley's airplane at Casement Airport. His mother would stay on the ground, working her rosary beads while John along with his three brothers and father flew in the plane. John has been married for 25 years to his wife Janet, they have two sons, James 22-years old and Michael 19, a freshman honor student at Kent State University. John a resident of Thompson is a former member of their Board of Trustees, Big Brothers/Big Sisters and church council at St. Patrick's Church.
